

WE NOMINATE

Homer Armstrong Thompson, one of the distinguished archaeologists of his time and a member of the Princeton Community for the past five years, who late this month will be "heading back" to Greece to launch another campaign of excavation in the Athenian Agora, the civic centre of ancient Athens. Associated with the American School of Classical Studies at Athens since 1929 and director of its field operations in the post-World War II period, the 45-year-old Thompson last weekend here at the annual gathering of the Archaeological Institute of America caught and held the press' attention with his account of what had been learned in 1951 in exploring the "dug-up" market square.

Contrary to the layman's conception of archaeology as the dull study of things buried and forgotten, Operation Agora is an absorbing undertaking, a venture that bridges thousands of years and emphasizes how much the world of today "owes" to the illustrious city-state of Athens. For instance, recent studies of the Sanctuary of the Twelve Gods, located in one corner of the six-acre Agora tract, conclude that the inspiration for the sculptured panel on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery (completed in 1931) actually came from this sanctuary of the Fifth Century B.C., that had first been copied by the Romans.

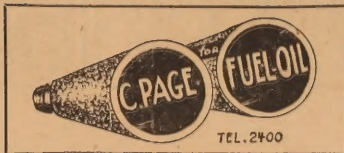

Thompson, whose wife is also a prominent archaeologist, is a native of Canada and was raised in southern British Columbia. "Gently urged" toward the academic life by his parents, he enrolled at the University of British Columbia, studying there under Lemuel Robertson, "who by the very fact that he had devoted his life to the classics made that subject appear worthwhile" to Thompson. The recipient of the Governor General's Medal at British Columbia, he carried forward graduate work at Michigan and in 1929, two years before the excavations of the Agora were started, was named a Fellow of the American School at Athens.

Before being called to the Institute for Advanced Study in 1947 as Professor of Classical Archaeology, one of the top positions in his field, Thompson had combined his archaeological activities in Greece with teaching at the University of Toronto, Canada. A prolific writer, whose articles have documented the progress of the Agora excavations, Thompson in World War II served with the Canadian forces, first as a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve and in the final two years as officer-in-charge of Naval Intelligence in the Adriatic.

For giving the modern world a more intelligible picture of life in ancient Athens; for reconstructing the dim past out of "seemingly insignificant bits of foundations and scattered building materials"; for strengthening man's understanding of the beginnings of western civilization; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Random Notes. Among those attending the joint sessions on the Princeton campus of the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America was an ex-professional baseball player. He is Moe Berg '23, long a fine catcher for several American League clubs, and often described as the only man who could talk back to the umpire in seven different languages. He has a thorough knowledge of that many, including Latin, Greek and Sanskrit.

The Community Chest has topped its quota for the first time in three years, reaching the required $112,167. Achievement of the highest goal on record is a major accomplishment on the part of everyone associated with the campaign, which was directed by Frederick J. Worthington.

The Princeton Adult School will open Thursday, January 17, for its tenth season. Complete details of the interesting and unusual courses to be offered and of dates for registration appear on page six.

Among a dozen recommendations made to the borough council by Mayor P. MacKay Sturges in his New Year's Day address is the possible purchase of an electronic speed trap to clock hasty car and truck drivers. See below for other details of his message.

The past 12 months were warmer (by three degrees per day) than the average temperature for the past 80 years, and wetter (by three inches for the year) than normal, although snowfall was only a third of the usual amount. Current predictions, however, are that this winter will not be as mild as the last three in this part of the country.

Seventeen more gifts have been received for the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund, bringing the total to $1,939.89, some $500 above the amount contributed a year ago.

Parking meter receipts for 1951 will provide the borough with some $7,800 in unanticipated funds. This source of revenue was budgeted for $30,000, with $37,817 in pennies and nickels deposited by motorists.

The Nassau Building and Loan Association has voted to increase the limit of mortgages it will write on property from $10,000 to $15,000. Harry L. Renwick, president of the association, said that the directors' action was taken because of the constantly increasing value of real estate in the Princeton area.

The year just beginning includes the day needed once every four years to correct the calendar and will have a February 29th. Perfectionists points out, however, that even this is not wholly adequate, that the calendar is still out of whack by 26 seconds a year. This will account for an extra day every —Continued on Page 3 3,322 years, a matter of no little concern to those who like things just right.

Report to the People. Save for the intriguing suggestion that an electronic device be installed by the borough to curb speeders, the annual New Year's Day address by Mayor P. MacKay Sturges produced no particularly unusual headlines. It was, however, a report on a municipality in sound operating condition that is confronted with a normal quota of problems to harass its officials and affect its residents.

The mayor commented to his Borough Hall audience on Tuesday that while progress has been made in curbing speeders through court action in the form of fines and license suspensions, the problem is still serious and "we should take all possible steps to avoid fatal accidents that are always around the corner." Electronic measurement of speed will, Mr. Sturges believes, "act as an impartial recorder of flagrant offenders."

On other aspects of vehicular traffic, the mayor pointed to the need for additional municipally-owned off-street parking lots; the re-location of some parking meters to cover areas now unequipped in such fashion; and the creation, through county and state action, of a by-pass from the Somerville Road to U.S. 1. Of the trucks that jam Princeton's main streets, he commented, "Until that is done, the 24-hour-day parade of rolling freight cars will continue."

Borough residents can expect higher taxes, Mr. Sturges told them candidly. Local government expenses are mounting rapidly, he said, pointing to the manner in which the federal government is depreciating the dollar through "non-essential federal expenditures and flagrant and selfish demands upon the Treasury." No likelihood of a decrease in the rate for local purposes was foreseen by the mayor, who added that he hoped the county freeholders and the board of education "will not deal any staggering blows to the borough taxpayers."

The address included repetition of the belief that many Princetonians share, to the effect that "efficient operation of government in our community will demand consolidation of borough and township. What may have been satisfactory in 1913 and for nearly 140 years thereafter," Mr. Sturges declared, "will not necessarily be satisfactory in the years to come."

He also foresaw the time when "the efficient administration of municipalities of considerable population and size by part-time, virtually unpaid officials may not always be practicable." Other major recommendations to the governing body for 1952:

Acceptance of Harold Avenue as a borough-owned street; renewed consideration of a street to parallel Nassau and relieve heavy congestion by connecting John Street with Bayard Lane; a re-appraisal of all borough property to equalize assessments; an ordinance to control vendors who offer unfair competition to established businesses; the acquisition of additional playground facilities.

News of the Theatres

THE McCARTER

The second of the Children's Entertainment Series will be presented Thursday afternoon at 3:30 by the Columbus Boychoir, singing "Easten and Eastienne." Tickets through Mrs. Oscar Sussman, 46 Linden Lane, and at the box office.

In connection with this concert, a special story hour will take place this Saturday morning at 10 at the Public Library, when the subject will be the life and music of Mozart. Selections from his compositions will be played; the program is designed for the 8 to 12 age group, but younger children are welcome.

JEWISH CENTER CONCERT

Miss Anna Shenderoff, pianist, and Samuel Reiner, cellist, will be heard in a concert Sunday, January 13, at 8:30 in the Westminster Choir College Playhouse. Miss Shenderoff, who appeared at Times Hall last year, is a graduate and faculty member of the Juilliard School of Music. Mr. Reiner, who attended the Eastern School of Music, has made numerous appearances as a soloist and with symphony orchestras.

The program will include selections from Brahms, Beethoven, Von Weber and Martinu. Tickets ($1.50) are on sale at Hinkson's, Harry Balot's and Viedt's, or by telephone from 1853, 329-J and 1859-R.

ZIEGFELD THEATRE

Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivian Leigh will give a benefit performance of Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" in New York's Ziegfeld Theatre on Thursday, January 24. Proceeds will benefit the English-Speaking Union, with tickets available from its national headquarters, 19 East 54th Street, New York.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Starlift (Thurs.-Sat.) provides a parade of Warner Brothers' stars to show what Hollywood is doing to entertain the armed forces. The film is essentially a lavish variety show, plus a thin romantic plot involving Janice Rule and Ron Hagerthy. Among those seen for more than a brief moment are Doris Day, Gordon MacRae, Phil Harris, Gene Nelson and Virginia Mayo.

Come Fill the Cup (Sun.-Tues.), like "Lost Weekend," is the story of an alcoholic, James Cagney, reporter, drinks himself out of a job and loses his girl but manages to reform and help others in his predicament. Unevenly paced but well acted and generally of interest. (Second show at 9:15).

Distant Drums (Wed.-Sat.) sends that veteran campaigner Gary Cooper through the Florida Everglades, battling gun runners supplying Seminole Indians and the savages themselves, as well as crocodiles and snakes in the swamps. Newcomer Mari Aldon provides the romantic interest in an adventure piece that moves along at a good clip.

THE GARDEN

The Golden Horde (Fri.-Sat.) is a drama in a 13th century setting, showing the armies of Genghis Kahn and Crusaders from the west battling for a Persian city and its beautiful princess. (Ann Blyth.) Blood, thunder and romance are dispensed in about equal portions amid eye-catching photography.

Ninotchka (Mon.-Tues.), about 12 years old, is Greta Garbo's satire on the Russians and the inefficiency of communism brought back by the Soviets' current disfavor with this country. Somewhat dated but still definitely amusing. (Second show at 9:15).

The History of Mr. Polly (Wed.-Thurs.) is a British film that offers both charm and humor in unfolding a story from the pen of the prolific H. G. Wells. Not always fast but generally enjoyable.

The Highwayman (Fri.-Sat.), set in 18th century England, traces the adventures of a nobleman working incognito to aid debtors being sold into slave labor in the colonies. Philip Friend and Wanda Hendrix in a romantic adventure drama that has a good share of action.

Senate a certainty. Mr. Kennan (who was Town's "Tories" Man of the Week last June 17) has been engaged in research for the past year at the Institute for Advanced Study. He is credited with designing much of the United States' current policy of containment of communism.

From the time that President Truman's announcement of his selection of Mr. Kennan was made on December 26, his home here has been the target of many inquiries by the nation's press. Indicative of the degree of interest were questions dealing into the Kennan family background. Sample (from Time): where was the umlaut in Mrs. Kennan's maiden name?

Bank Names Vice-President. Appointment of J. Taylor Woodward as its vice-president in charge of the trust department was announced this week by the Princeton Bank and Trust Company. Oliver Spaulding, vice-president and trust officer, will continue as chairman of the trust committee but will at his own request gradually be relieved of administrative duties.

Bank President Hargison M. Thomas said in making the announcement that "the growth of our trust business requires additional personnel and in Mr. Woodward we are certain we have found the interest and experience which will strengthen the department in its further developments. We are happy also that Mr. Spaulding's invaluable services will continue to be available to us."

Mr. Woodward is a Princeton graduate, Class of 1933, and Harvard Law School, Class of '36. For the past 15 years, save for military service, he has been associated with the New York law firm of Stewart & Shearer, specializing in investment, estate and trust law.

He served with the U. S. Army from 1942 to 1946, completing various assignments in field artillery and was separated with the rank of major. He will assume his new duties here immediately and will be joined by Mrs. Woodward and their three children at the end of the school year in June. Their home is in Rye, N. Y.

Reservations. Open. Car owners may now reserve 1952 license plates at the Motor Vehicle Agency, 354 Nassau Street. Those who wish to retain their present numbers—and New Jersey plates become permanent this year—must make application by February 15.

Before such a step can be taken, Foster D. Jamison, the agent, points out, cars must have passed the second state inspection for 1951. Present registrations, bearing the stamp as proof of such action, are to be presented with the 1952 applications.

Fees are to be paid at the time, with a receipt issued by the agency. Hours are 9 to 4, Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday. The 1951 plates expire March 31.

Built by Bowers. In Philadelphia next Tuesday, ceremonies will mark the opening of new district offices built for the E. F. Goodrich Company. Contractors were the Princeton firm of Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, whose operations extend into several eastern states and as far west as Indiana. In Indianapolis this year, Bowers designed and built radio and television studio, including complete production facilities, went into operation.

THE PRINCETON ADULT SCHOOL

Tenth Season • Ten Consecutive Thursday Evenings • Jan. 17 through Mar. 20

A community project carried on by a group of Princeton citizens generously supported by the Borough Board of Education. The School is a non-profit, self-supporting enterprise designed to bring benefit and enjoyment to those who enroll. Its courses are open to all adult residents of the Princeton community.

The Following Courses Will Be Offered. Choose the Courses
You Prefer and Register Early.

ONE-HOUR COURSES

8:00-8:55 P. M.

1. Human Relations on the Job (Limited to 30)

What are some of the ways to get along with or supervise one's fellow workers? How can communications affect employee-employer relations? What makes for good morale on the job? Can a worker successfully manage dual loyalty—to both the union and employer? These are some of the questions to be discussed in this ten session series offered in cooperation with the Institute of Management and Labor Relations of Rutgers University. Dr. Morgan Upton, Chairman of the Psychology Department of Rutgers University will be the instructor. The fee for this course is $3.

2. The History of the Bible

The History of Israel from its early beginnings to the time of Christ . . . the influence of the surrounding nations on the history of Israel . . . Israel's unique contribution to the interpretation of history. Dr. Charles Fritsch, Princeton Theological Seminary.

3. Dog Obedience (Limited to 25)

One lecture on elementary dog psychology will be followed by using the methods described in class training of dogs in general obedience. Training includes: Heeling on and off leash, sitting and lying down on command, coming and staying when told, carrying an object and jumping over obstacles. John B. Simson, former training instructor in K9 Corps, U. S. Army.

4. Personal Typing (Limited to 35)

Designed for beginners. Typewriters for use during the course are furnished. Outside practice is desirable but not required. For best results, participants should attend every session of the class. Miss Louise Palmer, Princeton High School.

5. Science at Work for Better Living

How has penicillin developed in five years so that it can be used for more and more diseases? What are the effects of phosphorus and its uses in color television? Science in industry is constantly at work developing new things to better our present achievements. Speakers will come from industry, including: Thiokol Corp., St. Regis Paper Co., Heyden Chemical, R.C.A. and other corporations. Coordinator: Clark Bricker, Chemistry Department, Princeton University.

6. Gardening

This course will cover the various general classes of plant material: Evergreens, broad-leaved and needed: Roses: Perennials and Bulbs, Lawns: preparation and care. Throughout the course, emphasis will be placed on the proper selection of plant material for particular and specific uses; Culture, including disease and insect pests and control measures. 19. China Painting (Limited to 25)

Learn how to paint and fire your favorite subject on ceramics. The various techniques, methods of application, mediums and colors, for the benefit of beginners are given in a short and practical manner with a minimum of technical terms. Fee charges for materials. Instructor: Mr. Louis Nemetz, Lennox China Co.

20. Draperies (Limited to 22)

This course will enable you to add a touch of individuality to your home by making your own smart curtains and draperies. A graceful swag valance or a gaily decorated cornice may be just the thing that is needed to offset your window areas. Patterns and samples of most styles of draperies and cornices will be made available in this course. Robert J. Kessler, Principal of Middlesex County Vocational and Technical High School, New Brunswick.

21. Household Maintenance

The first hour of this course will be for demonstration and lectures and the second for practical work. Topics to be covered will be: outside painting, inside painting, furniture repair and refinishing, use of common tools, tool sharpening, wall papering, repair of simple electrical fixtures, care and repair of windows and doors and care of plumbing. Richard Wood, Princeton High School.

22. Beginning Sewing (Limited to 24)

Instruction in simple sewing, including using the sewing machine, cutting patterns, and making simple garments. Each person will cut out and make a clothing item of her own choice, doing most of the work at home, with class time for demonstrations questions and individual help. Miss Elizabeth Gibson, Princeton High School.

SPECIAL COURSE Clio Hall

Fridays, 8:00-9:30 P. M.

23. Enjoyment of Music

This is a course designed to increase your enjoyment of music, but without presupposing any previous knowledge of the art. It will be presented as a series of ten programs, each to illustrate some particular type of music, e.g. illustrative music, music for the stage and for the church, symphony, concerto and chamber music. Each program will be presented with the help of copious illustrations on records or at the piano and will include useful descriptions and comments. Michael Steinberg, Princeton University.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Action Again. Winter sports action returns to the Princeton scene
this weekend. The Lawrenceville Invitation Hockey Tournament will begin Friday, with the championship encounter and the Princeton-Army game making an attractive doubleheader Saturday afternoon.
The cadet skaters will take the ice against the Tigers at 2, and the schoolboy event is scheduled to be played as soon as that is over.

Army is expected to become Princeton's fifth victim as the Orange and Black prepares for its Pentagonal League opener against Harvard in Baker Rink a week from Saturday. Last year's contest with the West Point outfit was a 3-3 tie, but the Tigers are a much better team than they were last January.

Despite a good Christmas vacation showing by Brown, defending title-holder, Dick Vaughan's skaters must be rated an even bet with the Bruins and Yale to win the 1952 championship in the five-college circuit. Brown impressed in finishing ahead of Harvard, Dartmouth, M.I.T. and Williams in an eight-team invitation tournament at Troy, N. Y. that included several Canadian entries.

However, Princeton was clearly superior to Boston College, which numbered both Brown and Yale
among its six victims before it fell prey to the Tigers. The Providence and New Haven entries will launch festivities in the league when they clash in the former city on Wednesday.

Two developments appear to be largely responsible for the good start made by the Tigers. Blair Torrey has shown unexpected progress as a sophomore goalie, and two good lines have been formed where but one was available last year.

Splitting Hank Bothfield, Jinx
Cleaves and Bill Gall, best sophomore trio in the league last season, may not have been an easy decision for Vaughan to reach but there has been clear indication that it has paid off. Tom Davis, a mere five feet, six inches, but a Canadian and therefore an above-average skater, has proved thoroughly adaptable to the style of play set by Bothfield and Cleaves. This able line is now firmly installed as the Tigers' starting unit, and is probably better than any trio in the league save Brown's first three players.

Close behind come the Gai-

The Nassau leader hit for 21 points against the Gophers and for 15
more the next night; in both contests, he fouled out while seeking to stem the opposition's attack.

Minnesota topped Princeton, 63-57, in a game that saw the Tigers on the short end of a 34-22 count at half time only to come roaring back and take the lead. The third quarter found them connecting for 22 points while holding their Big Ten Rivals to 9, and at one juncture, they had a 46-43 advantage.
DeVoe and Fred Tritschler, who lit for 16, paced this attack.

The victors' greater reserve strength made the eventual difference, as Princeton lost DeVoe midway through the final period and could not maintain the pace. In addition to the Nassau captain and Tritschler, only Foster Cooper with 11 points and Phil Zuravleff with 9 could score at all. Dave Sisler had a rough night of it, fouling out before he made a single point.

Michigan State, which whacked
Dartmouth by 20 points the night
Princeton lost to Minnesota, then took the Tigers' measure, 52-46. It was the identical score by which Princeton had won over the same opponent a year ago.

Cappy Cappon's forces led briefly in the opening minutes, but trailed 17-11 at the end of the first quarter and 28-23 at the half. The final 20 minutes were virtually even, but the home forces controlled the play and slowed it down as the clock began to run out.

DeVoe alone was in double figures, but the scoring was somewhat more evenly distributed and all eight Princetonians who got into the game contributed something.
However, Cooper, Zuravleff and Sisler could account for only four field goals among them.

Tuesday night saw the Tigers run into trouble that they may have difficulty shaking off before opening their league schedule with a two-game trip into New England next Friday and Saturday. The entire squad was unimpressive as it lost by a sizeable margin to a Michigan quintet that still isn't over the 500 mark.

The Wolverines won by 62-44 for their third victory against four defeats. Princeton is now three for eight and hasn't given indications of ability to stage a steady attack against a topflight opponent.

Penn had turned back Michigan without undue difficulty, but the Big Ten quintet swarmed all over the Orange and lead at one juncture was as high as 21 points.

The Tigers go against Pittsburgh
on the Pennsylvanians' floor Saturday night. The Panthers have split with Ivy League opponents, topping Columbia by a narrow margin but losing to Yale. Princeton will face Dartmouth at Hanover next Friday
and Harvard at Cambridge Saturday before returning to Dillon Gym.

Tigers Shine. There was much about the East-West game Saturday for Princetonians to enjoy. The 15-14 victory for the East was ranked as an upset but off the play of the two teams, such thinking was as hard to follow as the pre-game dope that had installed the West
as a one-to-two-touchdown favorite. The East clearly had the better personnel, particularly in the backfield, and dominated the play virtually the entire time.

All three Princetonians played every minute of the game that their platoons were in action. Dave Hickok made a good share of the tackles, diagnosing nicely and calling defensive signals for the victors, Dick Kazmaier passed beautifully for the East's first touchdown to Michigan State's Al Dorow, and contributed the victors' longest gain of the day when he was on the receiving end of a 43-yard aerial play.
It was only the second pass Dick had had thrown to him in three years.

Dick Pivrotto turned in a fine game, racking up much valuable yardage with his smashes off tackle, returning two kickoffs and hitting with all the authority of a 220-pound fullback. Much of the East's ability to control the ball through steady gains came from Dick's clear-cut ability as a running back.

Honors for the day went to Vic Janowicz of Ohio State, who booted a field goal that covered 41 yards and scored the East's other TD on a short line plunge. His selection as

The three top defense men are Captain Alex Mills, Johnny Bryan and Ed Stimpson. Mills and Bryan are two the starters. Dave Erdman or Ed Stimpson may come along to join with Hoffman, although the latter has also skated with the third line.

The Tigers play Dartmouth at Hanover before shutting down for vacation, and should take both this encounter and the game with Harvard on Saturday night. The season starts February 9 with their invasion of Providence, while the title could be decided in Baker Rink on March 8 when the powerful Bruins are here for the return contest.

Miscellany. Harry A. Schultz, who directs "Operation Santa Claus," has thanked everyone who helped him make the annual telephone service to the younger generation a success. Friends and merchants contributed more than $109 in gifts and cash in appreciation of the spirit in which he entertains Princeton children. In ten days' time, he answered more than 400 calls and, since families often doubled up, talked to more than 500 children.

The borough's revised zoning ordinance was passed Friday night after a public hearing that lasted over an hour and a half. Objections of widely varying nature were phrased by a dozen residents of the community, but they were informed by Mayor Sturges that exceptions will be granted when sufficient reason for doing so is presented. The broad philosophy and planning of the ordinance has been called unusually good by impartial experts in the field.

Albert J. Salzman was re-elected chairman of the township committee at its reorganization meeting Tuesday. Dr. John D. Rosso was appointed township physician, succeeding Dr. Alfred D. Summers, and Kenneth A. Clausen and James D. Rosenberg were given permanent rather than temporary status as patrolmen.

George R. Griffing was elected president of the borough council Tuesday, succeeding Charles J. Rocknak, who, with Tristram Johnson, began a new term on the governing body. Taking office for one year as fire chief was Leland G. Birch, a member of Mercer Engine Company No. 3.

The Y.M.C.A. has set Monday, January 14, as the date for its annual dinner meeting in the Witherpoon "Y" building. Gordon Sikes is chairman of the committee arranging the event, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John Butler and Dr. Rudolf Clemen.

Registration may still be made for the variety of courses offered in Group Arts winter workshops, with full details available at 14 Spring Street. Among those on the teaching staff are Mrs. Lawrence Swinburne, Mrs. John Brinster, Mrs. Mary Tadlock, Mrs. Robert Kolkebeck, Mrs. R. E. Honig, Mrs. Paul Deisler and Mrs. Maria Williams.

the day's most valuable player was unquestionably right; on the other hand, the thick mud on the field made it a fullback's day and it was much to Kazmaier's credit that he ran and passed as well as he did when speed to the outside was virtually impossible. The game wrote an end to his collegiate career, one that may well not be duplicated at Princeton for another quarter century.

Announcement of Interest

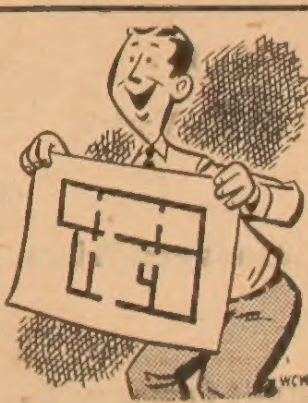

For the first time in more than a quarter-century, we will make loans up to $15,000 on real estate and homes in the Princeton area. The limit has previously been $10,000, but the increasing value of such property has fully justified a decision of this nature.

Ask for full details on our simply-written mortgages,

Elastic Hosiery

FULL-FOOTED

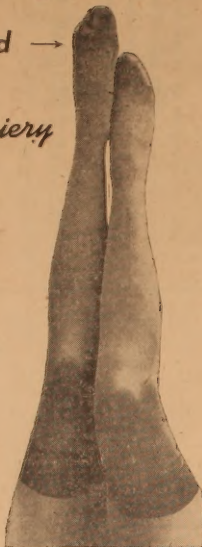

You do not have to wear a second pair of hose over our ELASTIC HOSIERY. This eliminates unattractive bulkiness and unsightly wrinkles.

SHEER

Knit of nylon and rubber with mercerized cotton and nylon cuff, NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is hardly discernible from service-weight nylons.

FORM-FITTED

NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is shaped in fashion to fit snugly at the heel and ankle, to give firm two-way stretch support over the calf. They are cool, comfortable and attractive on the leg.
